

Kitchener-Waterloo Oktoberfest helps the Food Bank of Waterloo Region spread the Spirit of Thanksgiving with the Onkel Hans Food Drive

(Waterloo Region, ON – October 12, 2015) – Today the Food Bank of Waterloo Region and Kitchener-Waterloo Oktoberfest came together to help those in need while enjoying the tradition of the Kitchener-Waterloo Oktoberfest Thanksgiving Day Parade.

Dave MacNeil, Executive Director of K-W Oktoberfest Inc., says, “It’s a great pleasure to announce that we have raised 10,780 lbs of non-perishable food items along the parade route this year. We also collected $13,682 in cash, which will be used to purchase additional food. We are so proud of Kitchener-Waterloo for opening up both your hearts and your wallets for the Food Bank.”

“The Onkel Hans Food Drive annually demonstrates the power of this community. Thank you to K-W Oktoberfest, Martins Family Fruit Farm, Sobeys and Tim Hortons for helping raise food and funds needed to provide critical food support in Waterloo Region. Thanks to the generous parade supporters and volunteers The Food Bank is on its way to raising enough to provide the 435,000 meals needed this Fall,” said Wendi Campbell, Executive Director of The Food Bank. “These meals will help the children, seniors, individuals and families that struggle to make ends meet know that they are valued and belong.”

Since the KWO Onkel Hans Food Drive began, it has now collected in excess of 1.3M pounds of food to give those in need in our community a helping hand.

Each year local citizens and visitors share with those less fortunate by donating food and cash as part of the Thanksgiving tradition in Kitchener-Waterloo. As over 150,000 people lined the streets to watch the Kitchener-Waterloo Oktoberfest Thanksgiving Day Parade, one of the highlights of Canada’s Greatest Bavarian Festival, volunteers from corporate sponsors Sobeys; Martin’s Family Fruit Farms; NAPA Auto Parts; Tim Hortons; CHYM 96.7/570 News/Country 106.7 FM; KOOL 105.3/KFUN 99.5 and CTV shared their time to collect the donations along the parade route.

There is still time to donate, the Food Bank of Waterloo Region’s Thanksgiving Food Drive ends Friday October 16. Call them at 519-743-5576 to offer your support. Kitchener-Waterloo Oktoberfest runs until October 17th.
